St. Petersburg, July 8.-The first para graph of the proposed agrarian law, viz. been much discussion in relation to what the augmentation of the lands of the peasants by the appropriation of all state and crown domains and church and monastery lands, has been accepted by the commission of the low house with prac tically unanimity. The commissioners have now locked horns over the mode of

have now locked horns over the mode of expropriation, and the method of disposal of private estates, and the end is not yet in sight.

The determination to expropriate church lands which, in distinction to the great estates owned by the monasteries, lie scattered like the lands of the common schools in American in small tracts throughout the country and support the local clergy, will cause complications. Such action would deprive the parish priests of the principal part of their scanty emoluments and necessitate an equivalent from some other source.

Rains Came Too Late.

Rains Came Too Late.

A correspondent of the Associated Press has just completed a tour of the provinces of Samara and Saratov. He reports that the drouth is finally broken, but the rains have come too late to save the crop and help the peasants, who are in a pitiable condition. Their cattle have either been sold or are starving in the fields. The government relief granaries were completely emptied during last year's famine. The present agrarian disorders, which can be expected to grow worse, are due largely to the necessity of the peasants' seizing food and forage to preserve their lives and save from starvation the remainder of their cattle. These disorders have reached the highest pitch in the province of Vorontzh, where the troops and Cossacks. although in considerable force, are practically helpless and on the defensive. Many peasants have been killed or wounded in desperate attacks on military patrols and the rural guards.

Beresford Hope was found in Boston last night by a correspondent of The Herald, and was interviewed at length. In the light of the facts pub ished yesterday, the interview is amusing, and has a familiar ring to those who have talked with Hope.

In this interview Hope denies, as was to be anticipated, that there was In this interview Hope defiles, as was to be afficingled, that there was anything shady in his transactions. He denies many facts well known in Salt Lake. He seeks to make it appear that the exposure of his methods is due to a Mormon-Gentile fight and because one paper (meaning The Herald) was "scooped"—both amusing statements. The fact is that Hope asked The Herald to print the original story of his vast floations at the same time the other morning papers published the tale, but this newspaper refused to do so. It was and is desirous of protecting the public against imposition. And of course the attempt to mix religion with the affair is ridiculous.

made about him. Mr. Hope has been "milorded" by Bestonians and given the title of "sir" by others, and he was said in dispatches from the west to have represented himself as an English nobleman. Mr. Hope says that there is no truth in that report; that the only halts in his business plans are those necessary before a large amount of money should be staked on an investment scheme, and that his career in this country in the last eight months has been open

Mr. Bagley declares in successional in Mr. Hope's western companies only as an attorney. Since coming to the United States about eight months ago, Mr. Hope has spent most of his time in the west, much of it in Salt Lake City, says Mr. Bagley, as representative of English capitalists who are said to have already invested more than $5,000,000 in various enterprises in the west. They are said by Mr. Bagley to be considering now the advisability of a general exploiting plan embracing transportation, lighting and other Chicago, July 8.—Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture, accompanied by a corps of assistants, arrived in Chicago today to confer with superintendents of government meat inspection relative to changes made necessary by the power meat-inspection law. Interview With Hope.

Speaking of his career in this country, Mr. Hope said yesterday: "Some paper or other printed a para-graph about my family, and several persons have seen fit to apply a title to it. I have none, and I have never vest in enterprises in the west, if reports as to the financial possibilities of the section are obtained. I say frankly that careful management necessary to carry the present plans through successfully, and I know also that the country where we may invest money will be as much the gainer as the gentlemen who will finance the project. It is a country of splendid possibilities in the region of Salt Lake City—a country where there is room for a splendid empire. If any western newspapers wish to scare away capital from that section, I suppose that it is possible for them to do so, but that is nothing in the methods we are using or in the ends we seek to wnice any reputable man of good judgment should take exception. "Scoop" That Was Refused.

"Now, as in the various reports from

Salt Lake City in regard to the plight in which Mormons are supposed to have been put. There are two factions in Salt Lake City-the Gentile and the Sofia, July 8.—Monsignor Neophylos, the recently appointed Greek metropolitan of Varna, has been compelled to abandon his idea of landing at Varna. and returned to Constantinople via Kustendje on board the same ship on which he arrived. There were anti-Greek demonstrations at Varna today, but they were not serious. Mormons. It so happened that I came quested by the editors of three newspafer not being represented among the pense to Salt Lake City news of the completion of our plans in Boston. Queried as to the report that offices ecupied by his company in Salt Lake City had been closed because there was no money forwarded by him from Boston to meet expenses or to pay salaries, Hope said: "I have had no financial difficulties of any kind whatever in Salt Lake City with clerks or with the owners of buildings. The company in which I was interested had hardly more than deskroom in the office of a gentleman who was a party to some of our plans. That office may have been closed, and there may be money owing to some of the persons employed there, but they were not employes of the capitalists I represented."

Denies Any Forgery.

The mining plans are not a part of the venture of the English capital may undertake, but an independent undertaking. Nobody's Mr. Bagley declares he is interested reputation, I believe, suffered in the least on account of the work I have been doing in the west." "It is said also in a dispatch from the west," he was told, "that you have mentioned the name of Halsted in connection with your general plans, and that some of the persons who have been persuaded to put trust in your assertions now believe there is no such man.

"Mr. Halsted is an English gentleman interested in the western development plans. He is very far from mythical, as you might discover if you ever talked with him. Mr. Halsted has had some business dealings with a Boston financial house concerning bonds. I have received letters from him many times, and have talked with him. He is what he says he is,'
